A close-up photograph of a car's center console, likely from a Ferrari 458 Spider. The console is upholstered in a light brown leather with visible stitching. A silver badge with the text "458 SPIDER" is mounted on the leather. The console is flanked by two air vents with a chrome-like finish. Below the leather, a black perforated mesh panel is visible. The overall lighting is soft, highlighting the textures of the leather and the metallic finish of the vents.
