2024 Porsche 911 GT3 RS

Born on the Track. Bred for the Road. The Ultimate Naturally Aspirated 911.

The 2024 Porsche 911 GT3 RS is the closest thing to a street-legal race car Porsche has ever built. Precision-engineered with a singular purpose — to deliver unmatched performance — the GT3 RS combines aerodynamic mastery, lightweight construction, and a spine-tingling high-revving flat-six engine.

Finished in an iconic White exterior over a focused Black interior, this GT3 RS is a purist's dream — designed for the track, but built for Dubai's boldest roads.

Exterior — Aerodynamic Masterpiece in White

Clothed in White, the GT3 RS's aggressive lines and functional aerodynamics make an immediate statement. A massive carbon fiber rear wing, revised air intakes, front splitter, and wide fender louvers give it a menacing stance and advanced downforce capability — over 400 kg at 200 km/h.

The front hood, roof, and rear wing are finished in lightweight carbon, while center-lock wheels wrapped in track-ready Michelin Pilot Sport Cup 2 tires complete its race-spec silhouette.

Interior — Black, Driver-Focused, and Ready to Race

Inside, the cabin is stripped of distraction and centered entirely on the driving experience. The Black Alcantara and leather interior is accented with carbon fiber trim, red seat belts, and an RS-specific steering wheel with integrated mode selectors.

Carbon bucket seats, PASM control, a roll cage (optional Weissach Package), and simplified driver interfaces emphasize function over flash — this is a cockpit built for performance, not luxury.

Engine — Naturally Aspirated Perfection

Underneath the rear decklid lies a 4.0-liter naturally aspirated flat-six, producing 518 horsepower and revving to a blistering 9,000 rpm. Paired with a 7-speed PDK dual-clutch transmission, it sprints from 0 to 100 km/h in just 3.2 seconds, delivering raw mechanical feedback with every shift and corner.

Track-tuned suspension, rear-axle steering, active aerodynamics, and an ultra-lightweight construction give the GT3 RS razor-sharp dynamics — making it the most precise 911 ever built.

Built for Dubai's Passionate Drivers

Whether attacking the curves of Jebel Hafeet or arriving at a Cars & Coffee event in the heart of the city, the 2024 GT3 RS delivers an unforgettable driving experience. Its White exterior and stealthy Black interior embody a no-nonsense, motorsport aesthetic — making it the perfect 911 for those who take driving seriously.
