With 45,000 km, this GCC-specification example combines timeless British design with the unmistakable character and performance of Aston Martin's twin-turbocharged V12.

The DB11 marked an important new generation for Aston Martin, introducing a fresh design direction while preserving the qualities that made the DB series one of the world's most recognisable grand touring lineages. Its combination of luxury, performance and distinctive styling makes it an appealing choice for drivers who want something more individual than a conventional luxury coupé.

Elegant Grey Exterior

The Grey exterior works beautifully with the DB11's long, flowing proportions. Its signature Aston Martin grille, sculpted bonnet, sweeping roofline and muscular rear profile create an unmistakable grand touring silhouette.

Rather than relying on excessive styling, the DB11 achieves its presence through carefully balanced proportions and sophisticated aerodynamic design. The Grey finish reinforces that character, giving this particular car an understated appearance while allowing the details of its bodywork to remain prominent.

It is a colour combination well suited to buyers who appreciate the DB11's performance credentials but prefer a refined and timeless aesthetic.

Black Interior with Electric Memory Seats

Inside, the Black interior creates a sophisticated environment that complements the Grey bodywork. The darker cabin gives the DB11 a purposeful character while maintaining the luxurious atmosphere expected from an Aston Martin grand tourer.

This example features electric memory seats, allowing preferred seating positions to be adjusted and conveniently stored. This is especially useful in a vehicle designed to deliver comfort over longer journeys as well as an engaging experience behind the wheel.

Another notable feature is the Bang & Olufsen sound system, providing a premium audio experience to complement the DB11's luxurious cabin.

5.2-Litre Twin-Turbocharged V12 Performance

One of the defining characteristics of the 2017 DB11 is its 5.2-litre twin-turbocharged V12 engine. Producing approximately 600 hp, the V12 delivers the effortless acceleration and distinctive character expected from Aston Martin's flagship grand tourer.

Paired with an automatic transmission, the DB11 combines substantial performance with the smooth, composed nature required for long-distance touring. It is this ability to blend serious V12 power with comfort and refinement that gives the DB11 its distinctive personality.

Whether driven through Dubai or enjoyed on longer UAE journeys, the DB11 V12 offers a driving experience that remains unmistakably Aston Martin.
